He Punched Her Nose

WEEK PEDDLER AS WOMAN IS SLAIN

Year-Old Divorcee In Cleveland found dead; Had Been Strangled

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—A bottle peddler was found dead today in a rooming house, with a shopping bag hanging from the head, with the leather handle tightly twisted about the neck. Radiator tape had been used to bind the woman's arms behind her back.

Police believe the murder was committed between 10 last night and 2 this morning.

No money was found in the house, leading detectives to the belief that the murderer obtained some loot. Drawers from the tables and bureaus were thrown on the floor, clothes scattered about, and the house ransacked.

Though police say the bottle peddler may not have been involved in the murder, they believe the theory was advanced that the aged widow was slain as the result of an argument over money matters, and that the man sought may be able to shed some light on the crime.

The bottle peddler, Cody said, supplied the woman with bottles in which she kept home-made beverages.

Waterworks In Ohio Cities Praised By Russian Delegation

Columbus, Aug. 9.—Two Ohio city waterworks today were praised by three officials of Moscow, Russia, who are touring the United States procuring data for the construction and improvement of like enterprises in their own country.

Columbus and Marion waterworks plants were visited by the delegation. The Russians are J. Andronov, president of the borough of Moscow; A. Prudnikov, manager of the waterworks in Moscow; and S. Ozerov, chief chemist at the laboratory. Their comment was that the Ohio waterworks are "particularly well organized."

The delegation was scheduled to visit Cincinnati next, and go from there to Chicago.

State Halts Water Line To New School

UNABLE TO USE MONEY

City Refuses to Put New Main In South Rose "Street"

ALLEY HAS NOT BEEN ACCEPTED

One Inch Line Is Not Large Enough For Reilly School

Due to an order of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, the board of education will not be permitted to finance the laying of a water along South Rose st. to the new Reilly grade school, now under construction, it was announced today.

The city, Tracy says, is responsible for such improvements, as it is for street, sewer, and sidewalk improvements and the state will refuse to sanction any expense that the board incurs in laying the water line.

One Inch Line Inadequate

At the present time a small one-inch water main is connected to the school, which will be inadequate for use at the school this fall when the school opens.

South Rose st. has never been officially accepted as a street by the city and for that reason the city has refused to adhere to requests of the board for the construction of a line of larger capacity. Due to the state's action in the case, the matter now lies entirely in the hands of council which can order the water department to lay the line, it is believed.

School Ready Sept 10

Work at the school is proceeding rapidly and there is no doubt that it will be ready for the opening day of school, September 10, Supt. of Schools John S. Alan announced today.

Weather has favored the construction in the last 30 days and pasturing and interior painting will be finished soon, following the completion of exterior construction.

Only four rooms on the first floor of the building will be used this year, the board believing that this will take care of the over-crowded condition of the city grade schools for this year.

The board is unable to finance the completion of the four rooms of the second floor this year, but these will be completed without financial difficulty from current taxes in 1929.

No Boundaries Fixed

The school is being constructed from a $75,000 bond issue passed by voters last November. Work started April 1 by M. E. Lutz, Canton contractor.

No definite boundary has been fixed by Alan but he stated today that it is believed that Lincoln and McKinley ayes, will be the limits for children attending Reilly school. Four grades, the first to fourth inclusive, will be operated with 35 children in each room.

The teachers for the school have been selected, Supt. Alan states, but have not been assigned. The staff will consist of four, including the principal.

New Desks Installed

The corridors of the school are white brick construction. Each room has plastered walls with pivot windows.

LIVERPOOL MAN HIT BY TRAIN

East Liverpool, Aug. 9.—Probable fatal injuries were sustained here today by Nicholas Schneider, 65, night watchman, when struck by a westbound Pennsylvania freight train while walking along the tracks.

His left leg was amputated and his side crushed. Little hope is held for his recovery in the hospital where he was taken.

Committee to Plan Ohio Aviation Code

Columbus, Aug. 9.—The formulation of a proposed aviation code for Ohio will be taken up at a meeting in Cleveland next week by the joint legislative committee on aviation of the state legislature it was announced here today by State Representative David S. Ingalls, chairman of the committee.

The meeting is scheduled for Representative Ingalls' office in Cleveland next Monday.

Cleveland, Aug. 8.—Walter Struzynski, 16, was reported dead in St. Alexis hospital today with a bullet wound inflicted last night by Sgt. Theodore Hartman, night by Erie railroad police, who of the Erie railroad police, who says he found the boy and three other youths attempting to steal sugar from a box car. The four attempted to escape.

SMITH TO LEAVE LATE TODAY FOR BRENNAN RITES

Nominee Will Return To Work On Speech After Paying Respects

URNS DOWN HALL PLAN FOR DEBATE

Will Insist Straton Face Him In Own Church and Have Radio Hook-up

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Governor Alfred E. Smith will leave late today for Chicago where tomorrow he will attend the funeral of George E. Brennan, veteran Democratic leader of Illinois.

Following the funeral the governor plans to return immediately to Albany to put the final touches on the speech he will deliver August 22 when he formally accepts the presidential nomination.

The governor and the late Democratic leader had been close friends since 1920.

Will Reject Big Hall Request

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Gov. Al Smith today was awaiting with keen interest a formal reply from Rev. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, New York, whom he challenged to debate after the clergyman had characterized him as the deadliest foe in America to moral progress.

Dr. Straton's suggestion that the debate take place in Madison Square Garden and that later they campaign through the south, debating Smith's political career, will be flatly rejected by the governor according to his advisers.

The executive will insist that Dr. Straton permit him to defend his stand on moral issues from the pulpit of Calvary church where the attack originated.

White Answer Coming

In the event that Dr. Straton refuses to open his church to the governor the latter plans to issue a formal statement within the next few days in which he will reply not only to the New York minister but also to William Allen White, Kansas editor. White recently assailed the governor, insisting that his record when a member of the state assembly showed he always voted to protect the saloon and the liquor traffic.

In his letter to Dr. Straton the governor suggested that they meet in debate any time during the week of September 2. It was learned today, however, that Smith is so anxious to answer the charge that he is a foe to moral progress that he will accept any date suggested by the New York clergyman, provided (Continued on Page 4)

CARKULA FINED $100 BY MAYOR

Husband of Stabber Says He's Guilty of Assault On Two Salem Men

Aurel Carkula, 93 Franklin ave., pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery today before Mayor Phil G. Hiddleston and was fined $100 and costs.

Carkula was arrested in connection with a fight at his house Sunday night in which Jack Houts and L. A. Dahlke, Salem men, received serious injuries.

Mrs. Odessa Carkula, his wife, who pleaded guilty to stabbing with intent to kill, was taken to Lisbon Wednesday.

Both Dahlke and Houts are in an improved condition today.

Childish Desire For Candy Causes Child To Be Hit by Taxi

Columbus, Aug. 9.—Childish desire for candy today was responsible for Mary Alice Meghey, six, being in a hospital here with a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries which may prove fatal.

According to her sister Helen, eight, Mary started to rush across the street near their home to spend a nickel at the corner grocery for candy, and misjudged the speed of an oncoming taxicab.

The driver, Curtis Patrick, swerved and crashed into a pile of coal in the street trying to avoid the accident. He was not hurt.

Tampa, West Coast Cut Off By Hurricane Heading Toward Gulf

Fury of Storm Decreases But East Coast Is Warned New Hurricane Sweeping In From Porto Rico More Intense

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 9.—The tropical hurricane which lashed the east coast and south central portion of Florida is centered over the peninsula today and is moving northwest about 75 miles north of Tampa with decreased intensity.

A. J. Mitchell, local forecaster, revealed there was little likelihood of the disturbance recurring, and he predicted that it will enter the Gulf of Mexico some time today.

Tampa and the west coast and the central section of the state was still cut off from communication today.

Two Coasts Isolated

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 9.—South central Florida and the west coast are isolated today as the tropical disturbance that struck West Palm Beach and the east coast Tuesday and Wednesday hurled itself across the state toward the Gulf of Mexico.

Scores of towns in the rich citrus section were plunged in darkness last night when the 50-mile-gale tore down power lines in an area of about 40 miles, from Winter Haven to Orlando.

Orlando In Path

Winter Haven, Kissimmee, Orlando, Lake Wales and many other little towns were in the path of the storm, and the same damage that was done at Jupiter, West Palm Beach, Fort Pierce and other cities on the east coast was done in the south central section and the west coast of the state.

Houses were unroofed, trees and shrubbery uprooted, windows broken, but the most damage was suffered by fruit growers and public utilities, such as railroads and power and wire companies.

Shipping Is Warned

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 9.—Centering over the rich citrus belt in the south central part of the state after causing damage on the east coast estimated at $5,000,000, the hurricane which has been ravaging Florida for the last two days rapidly neared Tampa and the gulf coast towns early today.

Rising winds of from 40 to 70 miles per hour were reported from towns 50 miles east of Tampa. In that city gale warnings were issued and shipping was held to the harbor.

No loss of life had been reported from the storm center early today, but nearly all wire communication (Continued on Page 4)

GILBERT MUSIC GROUP TONIGHT AT CHAUTAUQUA

Noted Organization Has Program of 3 Parts, All Different

L. E. Gilbert, heading a company of nine people, comes to chautauqua tonight with his production "Golden Memories."

Mr. Gilbert and his Romany Revelers toured the Redpath circuit last year and so many requests were received by the office that he is with this circuit again this year.

Mr. Gilbert's production is divided into three parts. In the first part he features the cathedral choir. Many sacred numbers are presented. The stage is set to represent the interior of a cathedral and the choir is attired in the appropriate vestments.

Dews In Company

The second part of the production deals with songs of a more popular nature, including the "Italian Street Song," "The Volga Boatmen" and other selections. The third part is reminiscent of the time between the years 1860 and 1890. Songs of this period are featured, and the company dresses in old-fashioned costume.

This presentation tonight is one of the big features on the program this week and a large attendance is expected.

Carl Dews, winner of the Marjorie Talley scholarship, is a member of this company.

Hold Wealthy Man Plunges to Death

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—Frank J. Deibel, wealthy real estate operator, was in jail today on manslaughter charges, in connection with the death of Richard Dunnebeck, 14, and injury of two other boys who were run down by a taxicab, allegedly driven by Deibel, last night.

Deibel, 40, was charged with manslaughter in the death of Dunnebeck, who was killed when he was run over by the taxicab.

Deibel was held in jail today on $25,000 bond, which he posted through the firm of Josephine Rowland Lauder of Greenwich, Conn., and her family long has been in leading circles of society. Lauder inherited millions from his father, who was an associate of Carnegie's in the steel industry and greatly increased that fortune before his death. He was a prominent yachtsman.

CANDIDATES FOR STATE OFFICES FIRE LAST GUNS

Swing Into Home Stretch In Ohio Primary Race Ending Tuesday

GOVERNOR FIGHT OF G. O. P. LEADS

Begg, Turner and Cooper All Busy Making Last Speeches This Week

Columbus, O., Aug. 9.—Candidates for positions on the Republican and Democratic state tickets were swinging into the home stretch today in the political race which ends at Ohio's statewide primaries next Tuesday.

Winners of the primary contest, as nominees of their respective parties will qualify as entrants for the major race which terminates at the polls during the general elections next November.

There are 64 candidates for the nominations for state offices at Tuesday's primaries. Of these candidates, 36 are Republicans and 28 Democrats. The primary will result in the selection of nominees for governor, lieutenant governor, U. S. senator (two to be chosen by each party), secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general and judges of the Ohio supreme court (two to be chosen by each party).

Governor Fight Biggest

Ohio voters, also, will nominate candidates for congress, for the Ohio senate and house of representatives and for numerous county offices.

Chief interest, to date, in the present state political campaign has been in the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Partisan feeling on a number of occasions registered fever-heat during the last two or three weeks in connection with this contest.

The Ohio Anti-Saloon League has figured conspicuously in the efforts which are being made by Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky; Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati; and Attorney General Edward C. Turner, Columbus, to win the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination.

Dry League Attacked

Turner has been steadfast in his attack upon officials of the league and in his endeavor to put an end to what he termed an improper alliance between league members and utility lobbyists and their alleged influence upon the state legislature.

Numerous members of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, as friends of Congressman Begg, took vigorous exception to the recent issuance by (Continued on Page 4)

HOOVER TO BAR "MUDSLINGING"

Will Not Stand for Any Personal Attacks On Governor Smith

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 9.—With his formal notification 48 hours away, Herbert Hoover today barred "mudslinging" from his campaign for the presidency.

The Republican nominee let it be known that he will not countenance any personalities in the campaign either against his Democratic rival, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, or other prominent Democratic party leaders.

He placed "mudslinging" under the same ban he put recently upon the "barnstorming" plans and "ballyhoo" programs devised by his enthusiastic personal friends.

Moses' Speech Changed

The candidate was looking forward today to the arrival of Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire chairman of the notification committee. Senator Moses will deliver the notification address at the exercises here Saturday in Stanford stadium. A copy of Moses' speech was sent the nominee some time ago and he returned it to the senator with a number of suggestions, which materially changed its contents.

Moses will bring the revised speech with him. It was said the speech will be perfunctory in accordance with Mr. Hoover's wishes, and devoid of the "wisecracks" which illumined the senator's address as permanent chairman at (Continued on Page 4)

Amsterdam Says 600 Were Injured After Eruption

TIDAL WAVES FOLLOW QUAKE

Terrific Shocks Felt As Fire Belches From Cone

London, Aug. 9.—One thousand persons are reported killed and 600 injured in a violent eruption of the volcano Rokatinda on the island of Paloweh, off the Malay peninsula, according to a Central News Dispatch from Amsterdam this afternoon quoting reports received there from the Dutch East Indies.

The eruption, according to the Central News message, was accompanied by a series of terrific earthquake shocks.

Six villages are said to have been destroyed.

Nine Vessels Sunk

A large section of the seaboard was submerged and nine trading vessels were sunk.

The quake threw up mighty waves which rolled shoreward leaving destruction in their wake.

The volcano had long been grumbling and smoking. The eruption developed with suddenness and violence huge clouds of ashes, masses of molten lava and a veritable hail of rocks shot from the crater.

Tidal Wave Follows

Volumes of smoke and steam rolled upward while flames flashed through the mark and loud rumblings came from the bowels of the mountain.

The earthquake shocks were believed to have rocked the bottom of the sea for they were followed by a tidal wave which rolled along the coast increasing the havoc.

The island is one of the group near the Dutch East Indian Archipelago.

MARINE KILLED BY SANDINISTAS

Three Others Wounded In Clash Which Deals Death To Ten Bandits

Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, Aug. 9.—One American marine was killed and three others seriously wounded in a sharp clash with native bandits on the banks of a little stream 60 miles from Bokay, Capt. E. G. Howard, of Oakland, Cal., in charge of the marine detachments here, revealed today.

A detachment of 48 marines commanded by Captain M. A. Edison, of Burlington, Vermont, was attacked by a large force of bandits while encamped on the banks of the stream, according to Howard. Pierce fighting followed in which 10 bandits were killed.

The marines were greatly outnumbered but quickly organized their forces and put the bandits to rout. News of the encounter came when planes brought the wounded marines here for medical attention.

Private Myer Stengle, of Hartford, Conn., was killed in action.

The wounded marines are Private Thomas Paine, of Roxbury, Mass.; Private Tussel Schoenberger, of South Charleston, West Virginia, and Private Melvin Mosier, of Topeka, Kansas. All three are expected to recover.

Captain Edison sent word that he is now following the bandits. Planes were sent from here to assist him in tracking down the guerrillas. It is believed the marauders were remnants of General Sandino's forces.

FEELING OHIO'S PULSE

It is with a knowing grin of tolerance that Ohioans have read in recent days in magazines and eastern newspapers that this state is classed as doubtful in the fall election, and that the primary this month is a referendum among Buckeyes on both Messrs. Hoover and Smith.

Just how it happens that the magazines and newspapers figure Ohio in the doubtful column in November, as between the rival nominees for president, is beyond the understanding of those here on the ground and in constant touch with the situation. Ohio is a Republican state, always has been, and today shows no indication of ever being anything else.

On the other hand, a Baltimore paper of last Sunday, in a special dispatch from Columbus, and one apparently written by a staff reporter, points out that "Ohio is to have a sort of referendum on Hoover and Smith at the primary—this is the real significance of the first balloting since the conventions in this temperamental state."

There is in Ohio today, probably less party factionalism than ever before, notwithstanding the intense rivalry between gubernatorial candidates. It is common knowledge that Ohioans take their politics seriously and fight with all their strength for their candidates or principles. But once a man or a bloc or a faction is defeated, at a convention, a primary or wherever it may be, factional alignments are instantly wiped out, party harmony takes its place and every one gets behind the candidacy of the fortunate nominee.

When the smoke of the primary disappears later this month it will be found that all good Republicans and all good Democrats are aligned behind their nominees, from the head of the national ticket to precinct committeeman in the last ward.

POLAR FLIGHTS

Professor Dr. H. Von Ficker, director of the meteorological institute of Prussia, and probably of the world's foremost scientists, comes forth with a most startling declaration—all the more amazing, in fact, because the public is closely observing the dramatic mishap which attended the Noble party's trip. Dr. von Ficker says polar flights are entirely worthless from a meteorological point of view and not at all comparable to the achievement of Nansen, who drifted about in polar ice for years.

To a world which had been led to believe that polar and Antarctic flights were a necessity in the advancement of scientific study of these regions, for the advancement of meteorology, and for the benefit of mankind in general in proving or disproving certain theories which have long existed, such a statement is more or less of a shock. Particularly is this so in view of the large numbers of lives given in polar exploration.

Dr. von Ficker says meteorology is not concerned at all with polar flights—that meteorology does not need the explorers, but that the explorers need the meteorologists. If what Dr. von Ficker says is true—and it has not yet been disputed by explorers or scientists interested in polar exploration—then much of the romance of these undertakings has been removed, insofar as we are concerned.

It really is unfortunate, however, that lives should have been needlessly sacrificed as they have been, if there was nothing more behind these polar flights and voyages of many years past except the desire of man to go places where no other human had been—or travel the same route by another means of communication.

What Others Say

AUGUST

August, now upon us, has never inspired much poetry, but it is not without beauty and delightful associations. The cornfields are waving a welcome to the new month, which has inherited richly from July. There is promise of a good harvest in the green and gold of all outdoors. The picture can not be changed in a day by tearing a leaf off the calendar. Summer sweetness does not pass in a night.

When and if the year is ever divided into 13 equal periods, as now advocated, the beauty of much that has been written of certain months will lose its identity. Perhaps the months themselves, under the proposed reform, would lose their names and become merely mathematical characters, as from one to thirteen.

Originally August had but 30 days. You know the story, July, named in honor of Julius Caesar, had 31. Roman senators borrowed a day to add to the month of Emperor Augustus. It would never do to give Caesar's successor an inferior month. Thus political sentiment can be held partially responsible for the mixup modern calendar reformers are trying to remedy.

But re-labelling the months, taking from or adding to, can not change the march of the seasons. Neither can human mind rearrange the schedule of the sun. Upon nature's inalterable resplendence we may base our faith in the infinite; to the music of the stars we may still tune our songs of hope—Toledo Blade.

BAD FOOD CAUSES INFANT AILMENTS

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, M. D., United States Senator from New York, former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It is safe to say the majority of infant ailments can be traced to bad food. Of first importance, of course, is the quality of milk given the baby. If there is the slightest taint there is trouble. There must be no half-way measures in this matter. Either the milk is good or it is not.

An upset stomach is the least of the symptoms which follow the taking of improper food. Fever and constitutional symptoms will appear, too. If there is serious poisoning of the system.

But it isn't alone chemical poisoning or poisoning with germs, we need fear. These are bad enough, of course, but infected food may carry the eggs of various worms which will hatch and thrive in the intestine.

Of the several types of such worms, three forms are most commonly found in young children. They are known as tapeworm, the round worm and the threadworm.

There are certain symptoms children sometimes have which we consider as among the chief signs of the presence of worms. This is true no matter what type of worm may be present.

The first of these signs is picking at the nose. When a young child keeps fussing with the nose you must be suspicious of this disability.

Another common symptom is grinding of the teeth. It is surprising how much noise a sleeping child can make by grinding the teeth together.

Teething and smarting and burning at the opening of the bowel are evidences of the form of infection. The child cannot resist the impulse to scratch and rub the parts. These efforts will attract the attention of the parent.

The signs I have mentioned are those found in older children. In infants, long before the age when teeth appear, there are other symptoms, equally suspicious. Loss of appetite, disturbed digestion, tows in bed and constant restlessness—these are other evidences of worms. Convulsions, too, are not uncommon.

You must bear in mind that the symptoms I have named do not prove the presence of worms. They merely suggest the possibility. Many a mother has been positive her child had worms when the whole trouble was due to wrong feeding.

There is no absolute certainty that the child has worms unless they are found in the stool. Careful inspection will reveal their presence.

Threadworms or "seatworms" as they are called by some, look like short pieces of white thread. Round worms resemble thick earthworms, five to ten inches long. Tapeworm is familiar to everybody.

When worms or parts of worms are found in the stool, all doubt is removed and your doctor will advise the treatment. He can direct a form of treatment that will relieve the trouble.

The same public discernment which made Essex the world's largest selling "Six," gives picture-like vividness to this car's enormous excess of value.

It is impressive to know that point for point the Essex Super-Six equals or excels any car up to $300 or $400 greater cost. But cold figures can't express the drama of this Chicago school teacher who writes:

"I looked at several costlier cars first, but I liked the Essex much better in every way, and I saved enough to pay almost all expenses of my European trip."

Or this Ohio business man: "My Essex gives me every fine car quality and performance ability which our former costlier car gave, and we saved enough to pay for the whole family's touring vacation."

It pays to go to the Buick Dealer

Two used cars may look much the same from the outside. Mileage, model, tires and general appearance may be all about alike.

Yet there may be a great deal of difference nevertheless—a difference in mechanical condition which will soon show up in actual driving.

You have only the word of the dealer to go by.

That's why it pays to go to the Buick dealer. You can rely on what he says. And you may be sure his price is fair.

Bridge Is Delayed Due To Steel Need
Completion of the remodeling of the bridge spanning Beaver creek at Gavers on the Lisbon-Salineville road is being delayed on account of the non arrival of steel beams.
The contract for the widening and remodeling of this structure was awarded to Frank Cox of Kensington. It is said by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk, however, that the bridge will be finished by the time the new concrete road is opened to traffic between Gavers and the intersection of the Wellsville-Salineville road at the south end of Tidball hollow.

Studying Pests To Save Peach Harvest
Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 9 — An attempt now is being made to eradicate the grange disease which is menacing the huge peach industry of the Carolinas and Georgia.

Dr. John G. Deegan, plant pathologist of the U. S. government, is now studying the disease in the famous Sandhill peach growing section of this state.
In some sections, according to reports, the crop has been damaged 75 per cent by the bacteriosis. The plant specialist was obtained through the efforts of North Carolina senators and representatives.

WALLACE BEERY in Blindfold test of leading cigarettes . . . says no brand can "double" for OLD GOLD

WALLACE BEERY
...popular Paramount screen star... who plays the leading dramatic roles in "Beggar of Life" and "The Tong War."

"You have heard of some actors that can't be 'doubled' in the movies. Well, Old Gold is like that. No other brand can 'double' its fine flavor and smoothness—even in the dark. That's why I picked it in the blindfold test. And that's why—from now on —Old Gold and I are going to be 'Partners in Crime.'"

Why you can pick them . . . Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLD.

Wallace Beery

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

How the test was made . . .
This test was conducted by the representative of a leading Eastern university and a disinterested witness selected by them. Mr. Beery was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, while blindfolded, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?" He chose OLD GOLD.

SIMPLE FUNERAL FOR DEAD CHIEF

Private Service at Home,
Public at Church, For George Brennan

Chicago, Aug. 8.—Simplicity will mark the funeral tomorrow of George E. Brennan, Democratic czar of Illinois, who died yesterday at the age of 63. His death, from a complication of diseases, terminated after a long period of ill health.

Business and political associates of the late Democratic leader had hoped to give their chief an elaborate public funeral so that his legion of friends might have an opportunity to pay their final respects but wishes of the family that Mr. Brennan be buried with the simplicity that marked his life, were acceded to.

Private funeral service, therefore, will be conducted in the family home on Sheridan rd. Later, friends will have opportunity to attend the service to be held at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic church.

TOO MUCH BEER GAVE TOM EXTRA WEIGHT IS CLAIM

Own Camp Generals Say Lager Added Far Too Much Avoidupois to Challenger As He Sought Relaxation Before Bout

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, Aug. 9.—Everybody in the boxing world has been just about 101 per cent right in the night of the late unpleasantness in connection with the heavyweight championship match.

Today, those associated in the management of Tom Heene come forward with the estimate that the champion beat a six and seven-eighths challenger on the night in question.

The answer, according to John Mortimer, and others of the Heeney management, is—beer.

Failed To Decrease
Heene, they say, not only overdid the lager diet, of which he boasted openly, but he even failed to decrease the daily allotment four days before the fight.

Observers of the official weighing in were astonished when Heene moved the bar all the way up to 203½ pounds, particularly in view of the fact that he weighed around 201 the week before and had dried out for more than 24 hours before he went on the scales. Never before had he weighed more than 197 pounds for an important fight.

Camp Too Hot
The answer? Beer, says the Heeney management.

It seems the original mistake came in the selection of a training camp that received the benefit of neither mountain nor sea breezes, thus causing the challenger to train hard in the midst of one of the hottest spells of the summer. But the supplementary mistake, it is now admitted, is found in the fact that Heene was permitted too much latitude with his liquid diet, beer again. The second mistake resulted from the first, as a matter of fact.

Looked Bad On Sunday
Then came the day of the big megaphone play, Sunday, four days before the fight.

Rickard took everybody, including John Bananas and his Aunt Martha, down in his private yacht. Dempsey was the head cheer leader of the lot, the idea being to look at Heene and automatically like his chances. It couldn't be done. Heene never looked worse, even in the eleventh round of the fight itself.

The challenger, they say, immediately jumped to the conclusion that he had gone stale. Further training of an intensive sort, if such a condition proved to be true, would only figure to aggravate matters. Beer drinking, on the other hand, is sometimes prescribed by trainers as a possible means of checking staleness.

Mortimer Praises Action
So perforce Heene decreased the amount of his training but not the amount of his beer—at least not until several days before the fight. The result was Heene's rapid gain in weight, the kind of weight he didn't want and couldn't use. Mortimer commends the fighter for the course he took, declaring that Heene was badly worried by the weight of the ballyhoo he had to shoulder and that relaxation was the only remedy.

The chances are, however, that not even Mortimer will deny that a fighter who aimed at 198 pounds and hit 203½ didn't quite achieve the acme of perfection for his big moment.

Failed To Decrease
Heene, they say, not only overdid the lager diet, of which he boasted openly, but he even failed to decrease the daily allotment four days before the fight.

Observers of the official weighing in were astonished when Heene moved the bar all the way up to 203½ pounds, particularly in view of the fact that he weighed around 201 the week before and had dried out for more than 24 hours before he went on the scales. Never before had he weighed more than 197 pounds for an important fight.

Camp Too Hot
The answer? Beer, says the Heeney management.

It seems the original mistake came in the selection of a training camp that received the benefit of neither mountain nor sea breezes, thus causing the challenger to train hard in the midst of one of the hottest spells of the summer. But the supplementary mistake, it is now admitted, is found in the fact that Heene was permitted too much latitude with his liquid diet, beer again. The second mistake resulted from the first, as a matter of fact.

Looked Bad On Sunday
Then came the day of the big megaphone play, Sunday, four days before the fight.

Rickard took everybody, including John Bananas and his Aunt Martha, down in his private yacht. Dempsey was the head cheer leader of the lot, the idea being to look at Heene and automatically like his chances. It couldn't be done. Heene never looked worse, even in the eleventh round of the fight itself.

The challenger, they say, immediately jumped to the conclusion that he had gone stale. Further training of an intensive sort, if such a condition proved to be true, would only figure to aggravate matters. Beer drinking, on the other hand, is sometimes prescribed by trainers as a possible means of checking staleness.

Mortimer Praises Action
So perforce Heene decreased the amount of his training but not the amount of his beer—at least not until several days before the fight. The result was Heene's rapid gain in weight, the kind of weight he didn't want and couldn't use. Mortimer commends the fighter for the course he took, declaring that Heene was badly worried by the weight of the ballyhoo he had to shoulder and that relaxation was the only remedy.

The chances are, however, that not even Mortimer will deny that a fighter who aimed at 198 pounds and hit 203½ didn't quite achieve the acme of perfection for his big moment.

NATIONAL RACE ASPECT CHANGES

Cards Lose, Cubs Beaten, Giants on War Path and Pirates Sock Them

New York, Aug. 9.—The National League pennant race took on an entirely new aspect today as the result of New York's two victories in three games with St. Louis, seven straight wins by Pittsburgh, Philadelphia's clean sweep in the four-game Chicago series and the eight straight defeats suffered by Cincinnati in the intersectional engagements just concluded.

The newly-found strength of the Phillies and the Braves, who whipped the Reds twice yesterday, means that John McGraw's fighting Giants will have able allies when they begin their final invasion of the west next week.

St. Louis won nine games and lost six in the east, while the inspired New York team took 13 out of 17 and now trail the leaders by only 4½ games. The Cards have won seven games and lost eight against the Giants, and have seven more contests with the New Yorkers on their schedule. The League leaders face the fast-stepping Pirates today and later on they must play 11 more contests with the Reds and Cubs, against whom they have won only 16 games and lost 17 during the season to date.

In their last three games with St. Louis the Giants dented the plate 24 times, outscoring the Cards 2 to 1. Yesterday the McGraw men got off to a ten run lead, kayoed Wee Willie Sherdel in the fourth inning when they scored six runs and won 10 to 5.

Phillies Have Youngsters

The Philly team which has wrecked the Cubs is composed entirely of young blood with the exception of Sand, and even he has been decorating the bench at times lately. Manager Shotton is seeking more long distance hitters like Don Hurst and has found one in Chuck Klein, rookie outfielder. Klein has walloped three homers in his first week. He got one yesterday which helped the Phils beat the Cubs, 4 to 3.

The pitching of Bab Smith and Delaney and Sisler's hitting featured Boston's 12 to 1 and 6 to 3 victories over the Reds. In the night-cap Smith yielded only two hits, both singles and both made by Willie Pipp. Sisler collected six hits.

Glenn Wright had a lucky day as Pittsburgh nosed out Brooklyn 4 to 3 beating the Dodgers by one run for the third game in succession. Wright drove in two runs after Catcher Deberry dropped a foul from his bat. Later Outfielder Hermon lost Wright's fly in the sun. It went for a triple and was converted into the winning run.

No American League contests were scheduled yesterday. Lefty Heimach, New York's new pitcher, is scheduled to work against the Red Sox today when the Yanks play Boston.

Fight Results

At New York—Joe Sekyra, Dayton, Ohio, light-heavyweight, won decision over James J. Braddock, Jersey City, (10).

At Goshen, N. Y.—Jack McVey, New York negro, outpointed Lou Scozza, Buffalo middleweight (10).

At Columbus—Phil O'Dowd, drew with Erwin Grace, Columbus, eight rounds.

Mickey Tornley, Columbus, won decision over Kid Gill, Columbus, six rounds.

Spick Mueller, Columbus and Pewee Carter, Columbus, drew, four rounds.

At Troy, N. Y.—Frankie La Fay, of Troy, won decision over Texas Frankie Fink (10).

At Boston—Honeyboy Finnegan, Boston, outpointed Johnny Jadick, Philadelphia lightweight (10).

At Circleville—Russ Elliott, Columbus, knocked out Willie Kahn, Springfield, in third round of scheduled six.

Battling Krenshaw, knocked out Willie Johnson in second of scheduled six.

Willie Ames, Akron, drew with Monkey Roberts, Columbus, six rounds.

Mullins Players Run Over Methodists, Batting Out 38 Hits

Mullins "mush" ballers looked like exaggerated edition of Mr. Spock. The famous "murderers row" of the Methodist church pitchers in their city league game at the churchmen and slammed a total of 38 hits for 53 bases on Sunday.

On occasion a Methodist pitcher reached third base but the member remained an unvisited member for the losing outfit and the game ended with all records for the losers broken by the league-leading team.

The game was a farcical exhibition of a baseball game. It can be called a more hard-hearted scoring than have accredited the winners with about 20 hits as their total. The losers but errors were a total of 30 errors on both sides and errors were counted.

BAND COMING
Otto Gray's Cowboy band, with Billy McGinty, member of the famous Roosevelt Rough Riders, will appear at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.
The cowboys are now playing in Pittsburgh and broadcasting from radio station KDKA, from where the announcement of the troupe's engagement in Salem was first heard.
Five men and one woman, all bona fide westerners, with two-gallon hats and full western regalia make up the band.
Three programs of one-half hour each were broadcast from KDKA by the band Wednesday.

"RAMONA"
The final showing of Dolores Del Rio in "Ramona" will be at the Grand tonight.
It is an early story of the Spanish people living in California previous to the invasion of white men, opening with a colorful sheep-shearing scene on one of the large early sheep ranches. Indians raid the ranch, and the heroine, Ramona, meets a wild Indian, Alessandro, and is fascinated by him. Despite the fact that she loves Felipe, a rich son of her adopted mother, Ramona elopes with Alessandro and there comes a tragedy.
The young child of Ramona and Alessandro dies and both are stricken with grief. While burying young Ramona, renegade Indians raid their home and Alessandro is shot down. With the double grief of the death of her daughter and her husband hanging over her, Ramona loses her mind and wanders through the country until Felipe, still loving her, finds her.
A pitiful fight is staged wherein he hopes to bring back her memory and recall to Ramona her former love for him. Felipe wins both battles, and in extreme happiness the two are united at her sudden recovery of memory, in her exclamation, "It is just as if I had never been away, Felipe."

Alessandro is Warner Baxter; Felipe, Roland Drew, and Ramona, Miss Del Rio. The three share honors with Vera Lewis and John T. Prince, other leading members of the cast.
An H. C. Witwer comedy, "The Chin He Loved to Touch," is shown with the feature.

"RED HAIR"
"Red Hair," closing its engagement tonight at the State, is a captivating story of a gold-digging marquis with plenty of action and comedy, featuring Clara Bow.
The story is a simple one of American life as it is. A little marquis finds that "gold-digging" is an easy way to accumulate clothes and jewelry and, when her charms captivate the hearts of three middle-aged professional men she "digs" to her heart's content. Her activities land her in a great deal of trouble, however, when she finally gives her heart to the ward of her three middle-aged admirers.

Through her own clever handling of situations, she overcomes these difficulties, however, and, after a forced midnight dip in an icy pool, she wins love and happiness.
Lane Chandler is the fortunate hero who wins the heart of Miss Bow; William Austin, Claude King and Lawrence Grant are the "victims" of the gold-digging miss. Jacqueline Gadsen is also seen in a major role.
With the feature, Pathe News and "Sea Foods" a comedy is shown.

STYLE EDICTS
Paris, Aug. 9.—Picnic frocks play a most important part in every woman's wardrobe this summer, for there never was a time when special frocks for special hours were more in demand.
They come in all light materials and bright colors, tending toward the sport type, sometimes with sleeves and sometimes without. They are just a wee bit less formal than the smart afternoon frock and yet not too countryfied to prevent a round at the golf club beforehand.
A charming picnic frock recently seen at Chantilly comes in foulard with an amusing design in crepe on white ground. The belt is gypsy style binding the hips and tying in front. A popular handkerchief is knotted about the shoulder.
Another delightful picnic dress comes in flowered china crepe with finely-pleated flounces of Geo-Blue arranged in a spiral over the skirt and bodice. Still another with a bit more of a sport touch is in blue silk crepe combined with white crepe de chine and made in a kind of suspended style. There is a tie in front and two pockets.
Printed frocks on chemise lines are delightful for lunch in the woods. They come in floral patterns in crepe de chine, fine voile or foulard with pipings outlining the yokes and decorative seams.
Washable silk such as is used for men's shirts is as smart as it is practical, made with or without sleeves and in one or two pieces.

Myths That Lurk in the Kitchen Garden
Myths that lurk in the kitchen garden give food for thought as we plant, weed and gather our "truck." The lowly plantain, the gardener's pest, Indians call "White man's foot" for it persists in growing where men walk. They also believe that the plants take bird forms every seven years and join the cuckoos on the wing and cause serious weather disturbances.
English tradition says that Cherivil and other delicate greens tremble at the happening of a tragedy and refuse to grow on ground that covers iniquities. The man in the moon was doomed to his fate by his fondness for cabbage. Having none of his own he filched his neighbors' who objected strongly.
One Christmas Eve the man was mysteriously whisked away, some said by trolls, and carried to the moon where, maybe, he still lives.
The humble bean was responsible for the untimely end of the philosopher who had advanced the theory that departed souls entered into the beans. Pursued one day by enemies who declared him to be a magician, he took refuge in a bean field but, not wanting to step on the beans, was soon overtaken, captured and slain.
Onions are sacred to St. Thomas, and are clothed with powers of divination on New Year's Eve. Hung in crowded rooms they absorb impurities of the air, and in times of plague are called life savers. In Bohemia garlic is fed to dogs, gardeners and cocks to make them fearless. To "eat the leek" means in Egypt, eating humble pie. St. Paul says that St. Peter's mother was lifted out of hell by a leek leaf, but those of the damned who tried to follow in the same way were unsuccessful for their leaves broke.
Salute Emperor Pumpkin, yellow monarch of the Chinese garden, symbol of health, fruitfulness and prosperity. American corn is surrounded by Indian legends. They say the first mother was born of the wavy green plants with tasseled head, and in her hands were the grains of milk and sugar to nourish the children of earth. Thor, god of thunder, adored green peas and firm believers eat them on Thursdays to increase their strength and power. The gift of prophecy is also credited to the peas.
"Somewhere" in Europe a crown of radish leaves protects the wearer from the dangers of the evil eye. Romans used parsley as a funeral emblem, it was also fashioned into a wreath for Hercules, while modern cooks use it as a headress for soured pig roast. Rue is the herb of grace and memory, and its leaves heal venomous bites and stings. The Virgin fleeing from the hunters of Herod took refuge in a sage bush, she blessed it and ever after it was filled with a sweet and savory odor. Joseph's brethren were trafficking in Balm of Gilead leaves while conniving to sell him into slavery. The leaves are used as healing agents for various ills.
Every good Hindu goes to rest with a leaf of sweet basil on his breast as a passport through Heaven's gate. Sweet herbs were dried to use in sweet ointment said to possess the compelling power of celestial beauty, the ability for those who used it to draw all desired passions to themselves.
These are but a few of the myths that make gardening a lot more fun if we associate them with the things we are raising. There is more to reward one for a little searching in old garden lore if interested.

WATCH FOR THIS AD. EVERY THURSDAY

VOL. 2 AUGUST 9, 1928 NO. 31

It's a dull evening in Salem when one can't see five or six young people riding around in a Ford coupe.
When you hear some one say "I have the finest, most satisfactory radio, it is possible to obtain," you know they have a Fads Special 10. Do not fail to call 807 for a demonstration.
"I want to return on a late train," said the man to the ticket agent.
"Well, I'd recommend Number 7. She's usually as late as any of 'em."
Animal trainers say it isn't any trick at all to put your horse in a lion's mouth. The trick, we suppose, is in getting your head out.
No danger now, that is, if you use some of our Safegate Tumblers. They are only 10c each.
No wonder the line was busy all morning! Mrs. Jones was telling Mrs. Smith about her new Sun-ty Sude Washer and all its fine qualities. That takes time. Of course, it has the octagon shaped tub.
Here's a real tube special — a 29x4 1/2 for only $1.29. It will hardly pay to patch the old one when a new one costs so little.
Science has proved that fifty per cent of the married people here in the United States are women.

Modern Appliances and Leisure

Russell Burns asked in his ad. one day, What a person does With all the time That is saved by using Labor-saving appliances? And we wonder, too! But when we give The matter thought, We come to think That the thing achieved By appliances Called Labor-Saving, Is not to give Us time to loaf— But to give us time To accomplish more For others' good, And our pleasure, too, And to save our strength For the many tasks That we are called Upon to do.

So when we suggest That you install A Laundry Tub So that the wife Can do her work Much easier, We know full well That she will still Have enough to do But maybe she Can do some things She'd like to do Better than slave At her laundry work. And another thing That helps a lot On a real hot day— An Electric Fan To keep you cool. We have them here And the price is right.

More Charm— no blemishes now

UNDERNEATH a clear, smooth skin, healthy tissues—full of rich, red blood—thrive.

No worry about pimples now. Instead there is a certain satisfaction that gives confidence.

All this because rich, red blood is Nature's way of building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

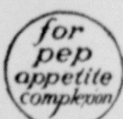

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took a course of S.S.S. It cleared my face and back. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S., and they are getting as much benefit as I did."—Miss Ruth Gahn, 1134 Elden Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.
